

HOLOGRAM SCREEN

5

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

10 The present invention provides a hologram screen which is capable of preventing separation, and damage to, a hologram film and which permits the hologram film to be reused easily. The present invention relates to a hologram screen that is comprised of a hologram film having the function of diffracting the light projected from a projector, and first and second transparent 15 members that together sandwich the hologram film from the front and back surfaces thereof so as to cover the same.